DEAN'S FOREWORD

We are happy to welcome you back to the 14th International Conference "Challenges of Europe: Design for the Next Generation". The exciting three-day program ahead of us will host inspiring guest speakers, plenary and special sessions, presentations of papers, workshops and panel discussions to ensure that the latest and most up-to-date insights and research findings are presented.

Since 1995, the International Conference "Challenges of Europe" has become an important meeting place where scholars and practitioners from different countries, cultures and backgrounds discuss contemporary economic issues related to Europe as a major global player and the issues regarding the European economic system facing various changes in a dynamic environment.

To date, the Conference has gathered over 2,000 scholars from more than 65 countries and has established itself as an outstanding economic forum. It has helped to establish numerous relationships among researchers, carry out several international projects, and improve communication among scholars.

Bringing together people from different societies and promoting scientific dialogue and activities that serve the common good will remain the main interest and mission of the Conference in the future.

Apart from the scientific contribution, we are proud to have been recognized as a renowned "Conference with a soul" by many participants who repeatedly attend it, as the participants are considered above all friends and colleagues. We will make sure to make this year's Conference another memorable one.

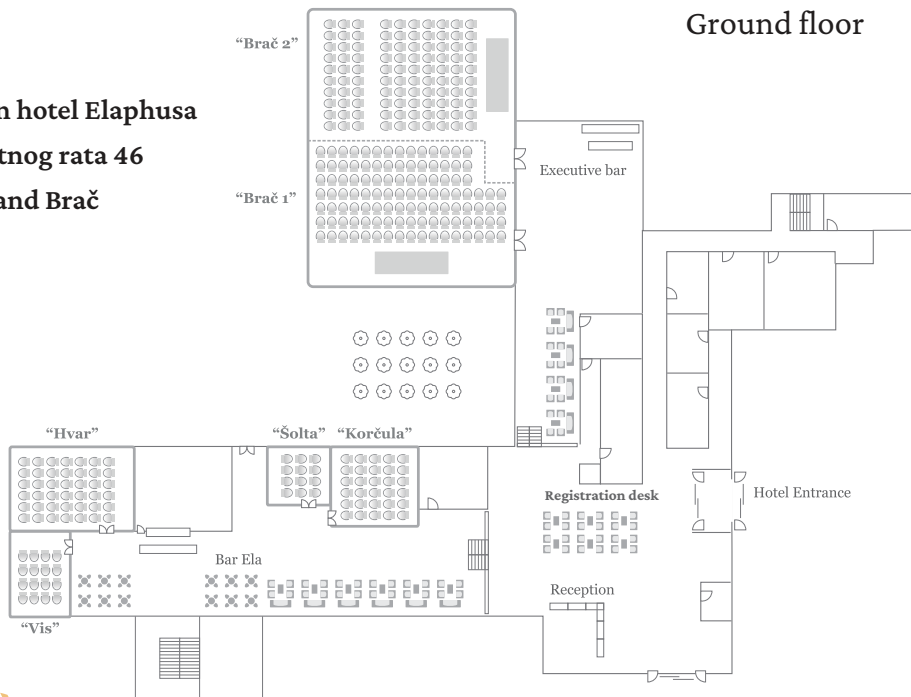

I wish you a pleasant stay and fruitful participation at the 14th International Conference "Challenges of Europe".

Vinko Muštra

*Associate Professor and
